EPIGENESSE

---

Specifically formulated for ageing skin, especially 50 years+

- Dry, depleted skin
- Sun damaged skin
- Dull, lifeless looking complexion
- Wrinkles and poor elasticity
- Poor skin texture and increased pores
- Younger skin that has aged prematurely

SKIN AGEING

Late 20's – 30's

- First signs of ageing begins in the late 20s. A lot of UV damage occurs before age 20 and pigmentation problems might develop.
- Collagen production begins slowing down.
- Changes in fat distribution and loss in the face can also lead to a changing complexion.
- Hormonal changes can trigger breakouts. Women may experience hormonal acne for the first time.

40's

- Skin changes accelerate rapidly and pigmentation problems and wrinkles are more visible.
- Skin becomes more dull looking as cell renewal slows.
- Elastin production stops and overall reduced firmness of the skin is noticeable.
- Glycation accelerates ageing.

50's

- Estrogen levels drop, affecting collagen and skin becomes less plump and taut. Skin lipids also decline resulting in weakened skin barrier and possible inflammation.
- Skin thinning is noticeable and skin is not as resilient.
- Poor elasticity makes pores look noticeably larger.
- Past sun damage and other environmental assaults really show on the face.

60's—and Beyond

Skin thinning becomes exaggerated and crepiness accelerates, making wrinkles appear deeper.

---

The appearance of our skin depends on our genetics. DNA determines the youth code of our face.

Scientific research in the specialist field of epigenetics has revealed that only 35% is determined by DNA, and 65% is determined by epigenetic factors such as diet, lifestyle and environment.

External Elements

Sun and environmental pollution

Internal Elements

Stress, lack of sleep and poor diet

SKIN AGEING

Telomeres, found at the end of chromosomes as protective shields for DNA, play an important role in cell division as they help preserve DNA information.

As ageing occurs, telomeres shorten with each cell division. Lifestyle environmental stress (epigenetic factors) intensifies telomere shortening which leads to further cell ageing.

WHAT IS EPIGENETICS?

Epigenetics is the study of biological mechanisms that switch genes on and off. DNA gives the instructions for various functional proteins to be produced inside the cell.

Epigenetics affects how genes are read by cells, and subsequently whether the cells should produce the relevant proteins. For example the COL1A1 gene in DNA is present in all types of cells but 'expressed' in skin cells to produce Type 1 Collagen proteins.

For a gene to express it needs a number of biochemical mechanisms which can be negatively influenced by lifestyle elements.

The latest advances in cosmeceutical and molecular biocosmetics has developed epigenetic actives:

Strengthens the natural mechanisms of DNA repair

Protects DNA (telomeres) from genetic modifications

Supports positive gene response in the repair of the epidermis
